Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 16 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Overnight thunderstorms clearing Thursday morning. Mainly fine Thursday afternoon.

This Evening and Tonight:
Most parts warm and dry during Wednesday evening. Thundery rain and showers with hail and gusty winds in places will spread from the south during the evening and overnight. Some eastern areas having torrential rain at times. Minimum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Thursday:
Heavy, thundery rain and showers, still affecting far eastern areas, will soon clear eastwards. A dry day then following on Thursday with some bright or sunny spells. Very warm again. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Further bands of heavy thundery showers will move northwards at times during Friday and Sunday, but with dry and occasionally sunny periods on Saturday afternoon and later on Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.